The International House Program at Jacksonville State College began its 14th year in September. Begun as a French program with half-a-dozen students, representatives now come from every continent on the globe.

This year's group includes students from six western European countries; Asia, the Far East, South America and Mexico—15 in all. They represent the Protestant, Catholic, Buddhist, Baha'i, Moslem and Jewish faiths.

Biographical sketches of the new students have been received by Dr. J. H. Jones, director of International House, which will be of interest to those who have kept in touch with this program of world-wide international relations:

Brigitte Maes, age 18, from Courtrai, Belgium, daughter of a dentist, graduate of high school, speaks four languages; was selected by the Cultural Affairs Officer of the American Embassy in Brussels and comes with strong recommendation. Wishes to study business administration, biology and Spanish. Jean-Bernard Genicot, age 19, is from Ussle, Belgium, son of a school principal. He speaks three languages and will take pre-engineering courses. He was also selected by the Cultural Affairs Office of the American Embassy.

Marie-Clarie Charton of Marseilles, France, daughter of a retired army doctor with the title of colonel, cousin of Genevieve Jeannerat, a former student. She speaks French and English and is interested in languages, business subjects and history.

Denise Aourousseau of Paris, France, was recommended by Mlle Andre, who has selected many of the students from France. She speaks French, German and English and is a secretary. She is interested in courses in history, literature and geography.

Laiolo Franco of Torino, Italy, has been astudent at the University of Torino and was recommended by the Cultural Affairs Officer of the American Consulate in Torino. He speaks five languages and plans to be a teacher.

Jim Glasgow Will Captain 1959 Jaxmen

Jim Glasgow, 240 lb. tackle, was elected by the football squad to captain the '59 Gamecocks. E. G. Taylor, Gamecocks veteran center and '58 Gamecock captain, was selected as alternate captain, as was Jax State's Little All-American candidate Bill Nichols.

Glasgow, '58 Gamecock alternate captain, was selected by the team, along with E. G. Taylor, as last season's "Most valuable Line-man". Tampa University showed great respect for his ability when he was named unanimously to their "1958 All-Opponent Team."

E. G. Taylor, '58 Gamecock Captain and '59 Alternate captain, is no stranger to Gamecocks football fans. E. G. will be making his third grid campaign as a Gamecock since coming to Jax from University of Florida, where he started several ball games for the Gators in SEC competition.

The Alternate captain Bill

Nichols spells trouble for all Jax State opponents. Bill, who was named on the Little All-American squad in '58, broke Al Woodhams all time individual Jax rushing record last season. The speedy lumberman from Altoona carried the ball 116 times during the year and presided to peel off an amazing 1044 yards. He averaged a remarkable 9.1 yard per carry.

Additional Space Will Make Outlook Bright For Term

President's Message . . .

Dear Student:

College graduation is almost a necessity today for young men and young women who have the mental qualifications to attain it. The ever-increasing complexity of life demands an ever-increasing educational level on the part of people.

As a student, you are given the opportunity here of training your mind and broadening your capacity to meet the demands of life which are oftentimes exacting and baffling. You cannot afford to waste your time. There is too much at stake for you. College is no longer a place devoted primarily to the pursuit of a good time. Those who conceive it as such soon find themselves on academic probation or dismissed as academic failures. A situation of this kind creates a scar that cannot be removed in a lifetime.

Our educational program here is conceived with a view of offering the best education opportunities for those who enroll with us. Although provisions are made for an ample amount of social life and entertainment, the college does not serve as a center of fun or as a reformatory for those who do not see fit to obey its rules and regulations.

We hold ourselves in readiness to go to the limit with a student who is devoted to the ideal of education as the first consideration in college.

I urgently request you to keep in mind and to pursue the high values for which this college is maintained and supported. This course will pay great dividends to you in the years ahead.

Sincerely,
President
Houston Cole

For the first time the state legislature, meeting in a Special Session for Education, has seen fit to appropriate funds for a building program at state colleges Jacksonville's appropriation, which amounts to $1,961,000, gives the college a bright future to contemplate, as the funds will be used for badly-needed buildings and extensions. This fund of almost $2 million will be a boon to this college which is suffering for the want of additional dormitory space, classrooms, dining hall, and library facilities.

According to Dr. Houston Cole, president of J. S. C., the architects have been working on plans for a combined dining hall and student union building since last April. The dining hall now in use has a capacity of 390 students, but for several years it has been accommodating 800 students daily. The new cafeteria will be equipped for 800 students, and this will make it possible to serve twice that number. The cost of the new building will be approximately $700,000.

For some time the accrediting agencies have been requesting that Jacksonville officials enlarge the Ramona Wood Library, and this extension will be done at an early date. A number of classrooms will be added to Ayers Hall, the science building. This addition has become necessary due to the increasing number of students majoring in science and math courses.

The planned building program also includes the erection of another dormitory and the conversion of the present dining hall into a fine arts building.

Student Is Injured In Auto Accident

When returning from a vacation to the Gulf Coast, Mrs. O. L. Prickett, the former Patricia Dooley of Alexander City, was critically injured in a head-on collision. Patricia is a student at Jacksonville State College. In the same accident, her husband, Oliver, and her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Dooley, were killed. The wreck occurred near Brewton.

The Collegian extends our sincere sympathy and hope for a speedy recovery for Patricia.

WELCOME TO JSC

"If the students and faculty members survive the pressure, we will have an IDEAL institute of higher learning." This statement was made by a Jacksonville citizen concerning the academic revolution which this college has been undergoing for the past two years. As the Collegian welcomes you to the fall semester of the 1959-60 school year, we encourage you to get off on the right foot. We can assure you that the atmosphere will be one of progress and enthusiasm. Elsewhere in this paper you may read the excellent qualifications of the new faculty members; they have been added to an already adequate staff. Dean Theron Montgomery, who has the responsibility of hiring and firing the faculty, has scheduled all physics classes to be held at night so that he could employ highly trained men for the positions. The Dean hopes that with the money that we have finally received from the state, he can employ more teachers with Ph.D. degrees.

You have one of the most respected administrators in the South as president of JSC, Dr. Houston Cole. With determination and patience, you can survive the pressure. Take advantage of every opportunity offered here this year and grow with the institution. Welcome Fay Simpkins, editor.

SGA President Writes

Student Body
Jacksonville State College
Jacksonville, Alabama
Dear Student Body:

On behalf of the SGA I would like to say welcome to Jacksonville. We hope that this year will be one of the best for you and us. If there is any way in which we can help make it better please let us know. We are here to serve you, the students. We are looking forward to working with each of you, for it is only with your co-operation that we will be able to carry out our plans to make this a better campus.

Our SGA has a tough job facing us this year. Our funds are low and in order to full fill our tentative plans we will have to work much harder than our predecessors. With your co-operation and help, we can attain our goals.

I am looking forward to the best year yet.

Sincerely yours,
Joe A. Garner

Baltimore, Md., a new member of the English faculty.

Mr. O'Sullivan graduated cum laude from the University of North Carolina, where he also received his master's degree. His master's thesis was a three-act play, "The Brass Ring", which appeared on Broadway. His major interest has been the theatre, and he has had considerable experience at the University working with and directing the Carolina Players, a community dramatic group at Chapel Hill. Some of the more noted members of the Carolina Players have been writers, Thomas Wolfe and Paul Green, Pulitzer Prize winners, and Andy Griffith, star of "Destiny Rides Again" and other Broadway and television shows.

Among the honors he received at Chapel Hill was the Gold Mask, a key presented by the Players for credit earned in writing, directing, costuming, scenery and lighting.

Mr. O'Sullivan hopes to find people here who are interested in all these phases of the theatre and that the students can present an entire production by themselves. He points out that acting is not "sissy", illustrating the point with such well-known actors as Errol Flynn, a boxer, and athletic James Cagney. Athletes have grace and usually strong voices, he says.

At least one play will be presented each semester and possibly a musical during the year. He plans also to present an all-star cast composed of faculty members with proceeds going to the SGA.

On Sept. 14-18, Mr. O'Sullivan will be in room 217 in Graves Hall to interview students and other interested in participating in the Masque and Wig Guild this semester.

The Masque and Wig Guild has been without a director for two semesters, and only the determination of a few enthusiastic and talented students plus the fact that a former member, LeVoy Stewart, volunteered to serve as director were they able to present Tennessee Williams' "Street Car Named Desire" last spring.

To Edit Mimosa...

Miss Diane Shutley has been chosen to edit the 1959-60 Mimosa. An energetic and resourceful girl, Diane has already made a reputation for herself. She has served for the past summer as associate editor of the Collegian. Diane is also editor of the student yearbook which has just been distributed.

Decatur, Ga., is the home of the new Mimosa editor; she is now a sophomore at Jacksonville State College.

Dr. Montgomery pointed out the difficulty experienced in obtaining scientists and mathematicians in sufficient numbers to take care of the large number of classes needed here.

The group includes Capt. Ernest Jones, who will teach Atomic Physics. Capt. Jones has a MS degree from Emory University. Capt. Harold Shaw, who will teach Elementary Heat, Light and Sound. Capt. SPORT SHORTS

The next opponents for the hometown Jacksonville State College Gamecocks will make their appearance over the '59 football horizon Friday night neighboring Tennessee. They are the University of Chattanooga Moccassins.

Friday evening's tussle will be the tenth meeting between these two schools in a rivalry that was first launched in 1924.

The Jax State crew opened this ancient series in fine style with a thrilling 14-13 victory. Two years later this annual game went into a lapse which lasted until the '53 campaign.

Chattanooga avenged the '24 defeat one season later when they trounced the 'Cocks 40-0. And they the Mocs administered the most humiliating defeat in the history of the sport here by posting a 71-3 win.

With the revision of the series in the fall of 1953 a power packed 'Nooga squad tripped the Gamecocks 39-0. Another white-washing season prevailed in '54, 28-0, but the tide turned in '55.

Loaded fit to kill, the Gamecocks wiped away many years of frustration, thanks to Billy Hicks, Al Woodham and Company, when they mastered their foes of 130 miles away, 12-10. What a game the 'Cocks played.

As you may or may not recall this was the season which saw our local gridiron heroes post a 9-1 seasonal record and meet Rhode Island in the Refrigerator Bowl. But meet wasn't all they did that November afternoon.

Before the Sunday sun has slipped behind the western horizon the Gamecocks had grounded out a thrilling 12-0 victory to complete a masterful season.

A rugged group bruiser met the Jaxmen in '56, the season that UC was loaded with one of their finer team in quite a few years, and claimed a 26-0 win.

The season of 1957 saw the Gamecocks put up a gallant stand up against almost the same club that had blanked them the year before falling 15-7. As always when these schools meet the Mocs knew that they had been in a football game.

A touchdown in the dying moments of the fourth period, making the score stand at 15-7, and a costly Gamecock fumble paved the way for the host club.

Here I feel it necessary to explain that, to my knowledge, all JSC-Mocs duels have been fought on Tennessee soil.

And then last year the Mocs took dire advantage of their reserves to win 55-0. In this one, for every one JSC reserve Coach A. C. (Scroppy) Moore of 'Nooga had three.

The three-platooning host club wore down a brave group of Jaxmen shortly after the start of the start of the second half and preceeded to tear the game open. At halftime only six points separated the two units.

With only five of last season's starters gone via the graduation route one can easily tell the '59 edition of Chattanooga football should be real rough. In a school that has as many scholarships as UC five missing lettermen is very premature.

According to a Chattanooga brochure, loaned me by Hay Hayes, JSC Student Othletic Publicity Director, the number-one man in this season's backfield in scatback, Captain Joe Abercrombie. The 170 lbs., senior, three-year letterman, will be remembered as one of the squad's most outstanding backs who gained consistently last season against defense-slingy Auburn.

In the line, co-captain Jerry Arnold anchors a line that is seemingly deep at the tackles and ends. And center isn't a position to be sneezed at for the Mocs where they have three returning lettermen.

School Spirit Is Prominent At Jax State

When pigeonholes hold pigeons and dovetails grow on doves, then one may hope to see and be a part of the times when school spirit at Jacksonville State is once again as prominent as it is now.

School spirit has actually returned from the dead. And King Football is responsible.

Everywhere . . . everyone is enthusiastic and enthralled about the '59 Gamecocks and all they do is talk about football. And it has reached the mark where it would be as amazing as spats on a Yaqui Indian if everyone was not jabbering about the sport.

And it's great to be a part of a school that has finally uncovered real school spirit.

Under the steady spray of dormitory showers, in the cultivated English gloom of The Grab, an unsolicited plight that has befallen many—and all over the xpanse of Gamecockland—Jacksonville State football fortunes of only partially explored '59 is the talk of the hour.

To hear the constant chatter you would think that the sport had just been ushered upon scenic Solomon's Hill after some sort of midwinter monkey gland operation. Optimism and high rising tones of revamped school spirit become synonymous with every assembled football-talking group the campus over.

No decibel machine could have accurately measured the storm of excitement and spirit that rolled out of the banked rows of seats in College Bowl grandstand Saturday night at the JSC-Louisiana College tangle.

And for this, all Jacksonville should be saluted and congratulated. It isn't every day a group can pick up a sagging project and almost propel over night propel it to the height our school spirit has now attained.

Yes sir school spirit is one returned "Ghost" one doesn't mind seeing.

of Trion, Ga., spoke on "Our International Friends", and the Rev. Holland Thomas, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Piedmont, conducted the campfire service before adjournment.

As usual, the girls were talking about men and marriage.

"I'll have trouble finding the kind of man I want to marry," commented Denise. "He'll have to be smart enough to earn lots of money, but stupid enough to give most of it to me!"

Jax Gamecocks Are Ready For Successful '59 Season

The Jacksonville State Gamecocks, with only one player missing from the '58 roster, look to the new '59 season with the anticipation of the greatest season at Jacksonville in many, many years.

Wayne Keahy, arcurnee at fullback, has added great power at this position. Wayne, who has earned two letters on the Jax gridiron, let out last season after a brilliant season in '57.

J. E. Phillips, a 200 lb., junior from Docena, Ala., has become the Jack-of-all trades in the gridiron warfare. Last season, J. E. played at tackle, end and guard. Spring training found him playing at center, but now that E. G. Taylor is returning look for J. E. most anywhere.

Rugged Roy Fulmer, Senior from Talladega, is top man at guard. Roy has been spoken of as being the most consistant player on the Gamecock squad. Roy teams with M. G. Hodges to make up the first unit guards.

Guard, Ed Neura, was lame through most of spring training, but he is rugged when right. Ed, a yankee who likes southern football, (Ed hails from Brunswick, Ohio), and veteran Stan Burger, add valuable reserve strength to the Jax State line.

Grover Whaley, a 200 lb., tackle from Nowee, is among the teams' fastest and most versatile linemen. Grover was receiving high praise for his rugged play as a Alabama Crimson er before he came to J'ville.

Ted Boozer, a junior College All-American m Alexandria, was highly heralded for his aggressiveness and eagerness to pound enemy ball arriers during the '58 campaign. Jax State fans can look or more of this kind of play from big Ted.

Quarterback Harold Shankles, a senior from Trenton, Ga., was prone with injuries in '58 and rode most of the season out along the sideline. Harold, when he is right, is probably the best proven at this position.

The Pride of Georgia, Wild Bill Kinzy, is returning for his second season as a Jax State halfback Bill plays with great desire and he goes full speed every minute he is on the field.

One of the team most versatile athletes is fullback Charles Clark. Clark, a senior from Elba, has fine speed and aggressive blocking skills. Charles proved to be a tough linebacker in the '58 season.

Freshmen Have Frolic At JSC

By Diane Shutley

We all got up at 5 A. M. By all I mean the counselors, the S.G.A. officers, the entire freshman class, Dr. and Mrs. Cole, and myself. The occasion was Freshman Orientation, and orientated they were.

In Daugette there was a lot of door-knocking activity. "Get up, children," and "Oh, this can't be true" echoed through the halls, and sleepy college kids rolled out of bed.

The prettiest view for the girls was the sight of the male members of the freshman class galloping across the campus toward Daugette. The girls were pleased, and they they were hysterical with laughter, for all the men were clad in wild pajamas.

The boys were barefoot, and shortly, the girls were, too. The girls "voluntarily" pitched their shoes into a huge pile, and the bottoms of their socks and their feet turned green from stepping on the forbidden grass.

There were no little red beanies to be seen, but the paper hats were abundant. The horde of freshmen called on Dr. and Mrs. Cole after some cheers, and Dr. Cole commented that it had been a long time since he had seen such a sea of pajamas.

Queen for the Day was Miss Mildred Arthur. She was crowned by Judge of the Kangaroo Court, the honorable Wade Smith.
